

Everyone Else • 20/39 • Fitrus

The Angel Who Was Grounded. Fitrus was an angel who lost his wings, and the accounts say grief for Imam Husayn is what restored them. Five items, no event print, dateless.

One style for the whole line — Fraunces and Nunito Sans, cut paper, the person on a stamp. Still open where it shows: the fact panel is TO VERIFY and the return address is not set.

ENVELOPE — C5, 229 × 162 MM

NOOR POST · EVERYONE ELSE

Fitrus was an angel who lost his wings, and the accounts say grief for Imam Husayn is what restored them.

FOR

[Child's name]

INSIDE THE FLAP

EVERYONE ELSE • FITRUS •
INSIDE THE FLAP

Open together.

• is the grown-up. ○ is you.

- 1 The letter — read it out loud, • and ○ taking turns
- 2 The hadith card
- 3 The print
- 4 The stickers
- 5 The postcard

1 · THE LETTER — ONE A4 SHEET FOLDED TO A5

FACT PANEL

Fitrus

Traditionally told throughout — see Notes before treating any line here as documented.

- What the account says he was. An angel, in a tradition told across generations, rather than a historical figure documented from the time.
- What happened to him. Fell short of an assigned task and was grounded, unable to fly, for a long period.
- What restored him, by the account. Grief for Imam Husayn, offered sincerely at the time of his birth, well before Karbala itself.
- What this letter does not do. Explain the theology of how grief restores an angel's standing — that is a question for a scholar, not for this panel.
- Why he is in this envelope. Fitrus was an angel who lost his wings, and the accounts say grief for Imam Husayn is what restored them.

The account continues to be retold in mourning gatherings associated with Imam Husayn.

EVERYONE ELSE • FITRUS

The Angel Who Was Grounded

● is the grown-up • ○ is you • ●○ is together

- Long before Karbala, in an account told and retold across many generations, there was an angel named Fitrus who fell short of a task he had been given, and was grounded for it.

○ Grounded how? What does that actually mean for an angel?

- The accounts don't explain the mechanics of it in any detail. They simply say he was set down somewhere, wings gone, unable to do the one thing angels are ordinarily able to do.

○ For how long did that last?

- A very long time, by the account — long enough that it must have felt permanent to him, with no clear way back to what he had lost.

○ Did he ever get his wings back, in the end?

- Traditionally told: the account says that when Imam Husayn was born, Fitrus was told to go to that house and grieve, sincerely, for what would eventually happen to that child.

○ And did he?

THE ANGEL WHO WAS GROUNDED · CONTINUED

- He did, and his wings were restored to him — according to the account, because of that grief, offered honestly, for a child not yet old enough to understand what was being grieved for.

- Why would grief fix something like a broken wing?

- The account doesn't explain the mechanism, and this letter doesn't either. It simply says that grieving for Husayn, sincerely, was the thing that undid what had been done to him.

- Is there a family story like that? Say what it was, out loud.

- Most families have at least one story exactly like that, passed down without a full explanation ever attached to it.

SAY THIS ONE TOGETHER

•◦

He lost his wings for falling short once, and
grief for a child not yet
born gave them back.

Then the hadith card.

FIRST EDITION · 20/39

NO SAYING SELECTED

Blocked on a source — nothing prints here until its row on citation-sheet.md reads V

NOT A SILSILA SEGMENT · THIS SET HAS ITS OWN CHAIN

NOOR POST · EVERYONE ELSE

The other chain

The box holds fourteen cards, one for each of the Fourteen.
This set is the people around them: thirty-nine cards, collected in any order.

First edition · thirty-nine cards

Blocked: Tuhaf's Imam al-Husayn short-maxims section is exhausted.

Back — its own chain, no silsila number

Fitrus

We opened this one together.

• _____

○ _____

Post it back to us, or keep it. Either is right.

Noor Post

[Return address — not set]

